Flasks now built into soles of flip-flops

Kids now can hide their alcohol in flasks neatly packaged inside flip flops. Reef Sandals has created the Dram, which includes a small bottle in each heel. A small amount of alcohol can be poured into each flask through a funnel, and the tiny bottles can be opened under the foot arch with a small church key.

The sandals retail for about $45 a pair and come in navy, brown and black.

These sandals can be purchased from numerous web sites, including eBay.com and IslandSurf.com. You can find them by typing "Reef Sandals" Dram into an internet search engine.
